frequently asked questions

Why two serums in one?

Phyto-Nature Firming Serum is a dual-phased formula, meaning it contains a lifting serum and a firming serum that work in two separate phases. The serum is crafted this way for the best efficacy and experience, and because it incorporates both oil-soluble and water-soluble actives.

Are the serums pre-mixed?

No, the serums are housed separately in two chambers, to be dispensed and mixed together by hand prior to application. Keeping these actives separate helps us minimize the need for additional ingredients to help stabilize the actives in an oil-water solution, and helps maximize the potency of actives for the best experience.

The product isn't coming out when I press the pump. What do I do?

When used for the first time, certain product chambers may need to be "primed" for operation. This is normal. To prime your product's chambers, press the pump down repeatedly until the product dispenses evenly. If the product does not come out at all after repeated attempts, please let us know.

How does Phyto-Nature Firming Serum compare to Retinol?

Phyto-Nature Firming Serum works differently than Retinol, so they are not comparable. If your client would like to have Retinol benefits, consider Overnight Retinol Repair or Overnight Retinol Repair 1%. Phyto-Nature Firming Serum may also be applied under either of those products.

How does Phyto-Nature Firming Serum compare to Power Rich?

Power Rich is a triple-action multitasking treatment moisturizer that helps smooth away fine lines, improve resilience and maintain moisture balance. Phyto-Nature Firming Serum is a dual-phase targeted treatment serum that doubles skin luminosity while flash-firming, lifting and revitalizing. These products look and feel very different but are highly-effective at reducing the appearance of premature skin aging.

Does Phyto-Nature Firming Serum work with all skin types and Dermalogica moisturizers?

Any client who is concerned about visible signs of skin aging can incorporate Phyto-Nature Firming Serum into their Dermalogica regimen, followed by the moisturizer that is best for their skin.

Can this product be applied on the neck and décolleté?

Yes.

Can this product be applied after exfoliation? Will it sensitize my client?

Phyto-Nature Firming Serum can be applied after exfoliation. It should not sensitize your client, but if they experience an adverse reaction, please notify us immediately.
